An aerial photograph showing a rural landscape. The terrain is a mix of agricultural fields, some with crops and others appearing as fallow land. A network of dirt roads and tracks cuts through the fields. In the upper right, there is a small, irregularly shaped body of water, possibly a pond or a small lake. The overall scene is a typical representation of a rural or semi-rural area from a high vantage point.

An aerial photograph showing a river flowing through a valley. On the left, a city with a grid-like street pattern is visible, with a bridge crossing the river. On the right, the land is divided into various agricultural fields and pastures. The river itself is a dark, winding line through the landscape.

A wide-angle aerial photograph showing a mix of agricultural fields and a small, sparsely built town or cluster of houses in the upper left corner. The terrain is a mix of green and brown, indicating different types of vegetation and land use. The image is taken from a high altitude, providing a broad perspective of the rural area.
